

Jordan Frisby is an Economic Analyst at the Port of Houston Authority. He is part of the Marketing and External Communications Department in the Commercial Division of the Port Authority. He joined the Port Authority in 2010 and is involved in market analysis, statistics, forecasting, and economic development.

Mr. Frisby graduated from the University of Texas at Austin with bachelor's degrees in math and economics in 2009. He received his master's degree in economics from the University of Pennsylvania in 2010. He has earned the Certified Business Economist(tm) (CBE) designation from the National Association for Business Economics (NABE). The CBE(tm) is a comprehensive certification covering core topics in applied economics and data analytics. He was among the inaugural nationwide class of over seventy CBE recipients in October 2015.