

Wayne Winston
Decision & Information Sciences
Clinical Assistant Professor
C. T. Bauer College of Business

Biography:

Wayne is a clinical assistant professor for the Department of Decision & Information Services at the C. T. Bauer College of Business at the University of Houston, and professor emeritus of Decision Sciences at the Kelley School of Business at Indiana University. He holds a BS in mathematics from M.I.T. and a Ph.D in operations research from Yale. He won over 40 teaching awards at Indiana University, including the Top MBA Teaching Award (six times). He has written over a dozen books including Marketing Analytics, Operations Research, Practical Management Science, Excel 2013 Data Analysis and Business Modeling and Mathletics and over 20. He has taught classes, or consulted for, many organizations including Eli Lilly, Pfizer, Verizon, Microsoft, Cisco, U.S. Navy, U.S. Army, 3M, and GM. He is also a two-time Jeopardy! Champion and has consulted for the NBA's Dallas Mavericks and New York Knicks.